ALICE WYNEKOOP IS CARRIED TO WITNESS STAND

AGED PHYSICIAN IS EXHAUSTED AFTER ORDEAL

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—Weak and exhausted from the ordeal of a day and a half on the witness stand, Alice Wynkoop rested today on her cot in Cook county jail. She had gone to bed immediately after the completion of her cross-examination at noon.

The hearing session was only a few hours old when the aged physician, who had been in the hospital for several days, collapsed upon the stand. She was carried to her cot by two men, and her condition was such that she was unable to stand.

MACHINE GUN BLAST KILLS ELI DAICHES

Advertising Agency Head Assassinated In His Auto

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—A machine gun blast in a crowded street today ended the life of Eli Daiches, a prominent advertising agency head, as he sat in his expensive car on South Lake front drive.

Police, mystified by the slaying, said they were without a clue in the murder of the philanthropist.

Daiches, 44, was shot to death as his negro chauffeur paused in traffic. A car containing two men stopped, and one got out. He walked to the Daiches car, put a gun at the rear glass window, and shot. He reentered his own car which sped away.

First Year of New Deal Ends Today With Most of Program Buried in Stiff Controversy

Convicted

DR. SARAH RUTH DEAN

DR. SARAH DEAN IS CONVICTED; FREED ON BAIL

Attorneys Claim She Is Suffering From Stomach Ailment

Greenwood, Miss., March 3.—(AP)—A jury today returned a guilty verdict against Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean and sentenced her to spend the rest of her natural life at hard labor in the state penitentiary for the murder of her husband, Dr. John Preston Kennedy.

The verdict, representing a rejection of the woman physician's sworn testimony that she did not poison Kennedy, with a white liquid, came after 13 hours and 52 minutes of deliberation.

The trial lasted five weeks.

As the defendant strove to keep the store calm she had maintained almost throughout the hearing, and gripped her way to a waiting post to sob out of control of the crowded courtroom her attorneys quickly entered a motion for a new trial.

Preliminary arguments on the new trial motion were heard during the afternoon when presiding Judge S. F. Davis granted defense attorneys 30 days to prepare detailed briefs, tentatively setting a further hearing for June 2 at Indianola, Miss.

Over strenuous state objections, the court decreed that Dr. Dean should remain free on her $10,000 indictment bond, pending action on the motion for a new trial.

In a prepared statement handed out tonight, Dr. Dean thanked her attorneys for their untiring efforts in her behalf throughout this persecution.

She then went into retirement at the home of relatives here.

In sharp contrast to the quick intake of breath which marked the reception by Dr. Dean, her relatives and attorneys, of the verdict, members of the Kennedy family which had employed special prosecutors to aid the district attorney in pressing the position, expressed pleasure at the jury's finding.

Mrs. Bessie Barry Kennedy, divorced wife of the dead surgeon, threw her arms around the district attorney in joy and pushed forward to shake hands warmly with the jurors and presiding judge S. F. Davis. She had told the jury on the stand that Dr. Dean broke up her home.

"It's the happiest moment of my life," said Dr. Barry Kennedy, brother of the dead man, as he held his arms around his aged parents, who wept and smiled at the same time.

The jury took three ballots: the first last night being nine to three for conviction, the next this morning standing 11 to 1 and the last unanimous for conviction without capital punishment. Having agreed on guilt and rejected a death verdict, the jury had no choice but to prescribe life imprisonment.

Dr. Dean on the stand flatly denied that she had poisoned Kennedy or had even been with him on the night of July 27, 1933, when he was stricken with a strange illness which claimed his life ten days later. Her testimony was that she had loved both Kennedy and Captain Franklin C. Maull, a ship pilot of Lewes, Delaware. She said she had no motive for harming Kennedy because she had broken her engagement to him in order to marry Maull at the time Kennedy was stricken. She produced stacks of love letters from both men to substantiate her story.

Sinclair shoppers in Jacksonville Saturday included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. U. B. Fox, Dan Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Strawn.

MECHANIC SAYS DILLINGER COOL AND REAL TOUGH

Edwin Saager Tells Of His Wild Ride With Famous Outlaw

By Richard L. Turner
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, March 3.—(AP)—The first year of the new deal ends tomorrow with much of its program buried in controversy but with the nation in a better economic condition than when that dismal day on which Franklin D. Roosevelt took office.

While the political operation of the new deal has been a subject of controversy, both industry and labor have the national recovery program, the president's program, with his plans, undisturbed by the hullabaloo that surrounds them.

The individual items of the new deal, however, have been a subject of controversy. Some have been temporary measures designed to expedite business recovery, and others of a permanent nature intended to bring about lasting changes in the fundamental of the country's economic system.

First Category

In the first category are listed the public works and civil works administrations, federal purchases of agricultural products for relief purposes, the emergency conservation corps, federal refinancing of home and farm mortgages, construction corporation loans to banks and railroads.

On the side of reconstruction are the farm act, the Tennessee Valley authority, the reforestation act, the public works administration, the federal reserve request for government securities, the stock and commodity exchanges.

Some of the administration projects originally regarded as temporary are now being advanced into the permanent category. Outstanding among these is the national recovery administration, which has become an ever increasing source of controversy. It is a permanent body, with a permanent staff, and it has a permanent budget.

Administration critics have argued that the civil works administration, through which more than ten million dollars have been given away, has a distinct tendency to become permanent. The idea behind it, they say, is to create a permanent body, with a permanent staff, and it has a permanent budget.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

"SHAMELESS LIE"

Springfield, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—An increased number of accidents caused 5,725 deaths in Illinois in 1933. Dr. Frank Jirka of the public health department said today, a total greater than that of an epidemic disease.

Fatal accidents increased 234 during the year, he said, while mortality from other causes declined. Only heart disease, cancer and nephritis caused more deaths in the state.

Dr. Jirka said that the increase in accidents was a "shameless lie" and that the government should do more to prevent them.

CONGRATULATES FLYERS

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—A message of congratulations was sent to the flyers of the Army Air Corps.

The message was sent by the National Association of Manufacturers, which congratulated the flyers for their service to the country.

The flyers were praised for their bravery and for their contribution to the war effort.

WOMAN SUICIDES

Alton, Ill., March 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary B. Pastorius, 66, wife of former Alton Mayor John Pastorius, hanged herself with a scarf today in her room at St. Anthony's infirmary.

She entered the infirmary three weeks ago for treatment for a nervous ailment.

The infirmary officials said that they found her hanging from a beam in her room.

Complete Program

Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, and his assistants worked away at completing the program of action for the industrial assemblies, which began Monday morning with an address by the president, and continues for three days and nights of group sessions on selected code problems.

Officials today explained that the plan for allowing advisory votes by industrialists in these sessions on disputed points may be used only in the discretion of the group chairman. It will not extend to administration plans, and may be abandoned altogether if any misapprehension exists that such votes would dictate government action or policy.

The presidential labor order coincided with issuance by two national organizations of attacks on the new bill by which Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.), labor board chairman, would give the board sweeping power in the handling of industrial disputes.

James A. Emery, counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, called it "the most amazing legislative proposal" he had seen in 30 years.

What the president provided today was to state the right of the labor board to send any case of an employer refusing to deal with his workers or to refuse to bargain in good faith to the board for arbitration.

In the past, notably in the E. G. Budd Manufacturing company case from Philadelphia, the compliance unit has reviewed labor board acts, postponing ultimate decisions.

Immediately on publication of the order, Wagner called four companies to show cause week after week why they should not freedom in selecting their own representatives in selecting a union.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson Thornley of Ashland were shoppers in Jacksonville yesterday.

BOMB SALOON

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—Bombing of a saloon here today was believed by the owner, Nicholas Stein, to be due to the fact that he sold beer for a nickel a Stein. The attack wrecked the interior of the store.

The bombing was believed to be the work of a gang, and the owner said that he was not involved in the attack.

The police are investigating the attack and have not yet arrested anyone.

A Year Ago Today

It is the fourth of March. A year ago today a great crowd gathered in the city of Washington to witness the inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. That throng was gathered under the most peculiar circumstances in the history of the country. No man knew the future, and every man's heart trembled within him as he faced what appeared to be the blackest situation these United States had ever experienced.

Not a bank was open in the national capital or in most of the 48 states. One state after another had closed its banks by government edict, and the finances of the country were in a state of complete paralysis.

Some fifteen million men and women were idle. We know now that something having no resemblance to prosperity was just around the corner. It did not come, a fact for which we have reason to thank God and take courage.

We have had a year of the new administration, and we are away from the dark hour that overshadowed the President's inauguration. We have had a pickup in business, an increase in employment, and a rejuvenation of national finances. The banks are sound, and the national credit is good.

To say that the country has entirely recovered its economic balance would be untrue. We have a long way to go, but we have made progress. The first six months of the year saw a decided business revival. During the present winter recovery has held its own, and the country is hopeful of a spring push that will mean greater prosperity. At present business is about where it was in September, 1933 according to the best available statistics.

Here construction projects are due to get under way as soon as weather permits. The CWA is to be tapered off and the slack in employment is expected to be taken up by the PWA and private enterprise. In Morgan county alone three road-building and paving projects will start in a few weeks, and the same thing will take place in hundreds of counties over the nation.

We can forget the conditions which existed a year ago today, tho we must not disregard the lesson they surely have taught us. We may be emerging from the canyon into the free air and sunshine of better days. Let us build our economic highways of the future away from the precipices.

Wasted Votes

I don't lose a vote," jubilant citizens sometimes say after an election when their favorites all come through with majorities. "I wasted my vote," is a frequent phrase when voters indicate that their preferred party or candidate was defeated. They are wrong in taking this attitude, because the only vote wasted are those the election officials throw out. And there is a surprisingly large number of these in every primary and election.

There was a small vote in last Tuesday's city primary, but the total vote would have been considerably larger if all voters thoroughly understood how to vote. Improperly marked ballots cost a number of candidates support and scored exactly nothing for the citizens who cast them. They were in taking this attitude, because the only vote wasted are those the election officials throw out. And there is a surprisingly large number of these in every primary and election.

One man who worked as a primary judge was impressed by the carelessness reflected by a number of ballots. In some instances where names were supposed to be written in the names were scrawled across the face of the ballot, rather than on the proper line. Names were found written on both sides of ballots. On others, voters failed to make a cross before the name written in. All of these mistakes cost the candidates votes. The judges could not permit such ballots to figure in the results. It was estimated that in one ward thirty ballots were disqualified because of erroneous markings, or lack of markings.

It is the duty of every citizen to vote, and to vote correctly so that his ballot will mean something. Men and women who are in doubt about how to mark their ballots should make inquiry of reliable officials in advance of the election. Then they will be certain of a voice in the proceedings. An improperly marked ballot tossed into the scrap heap helps nobody.

Old Scrap Iron

In the alleys, along the docks and around factories and warehouses, from junk piles and rubbish heaps, everywhere small boys are collecting scrap iron, which they sell for a few cents to junk dealers. It seems a trifling matter, merely a means whereby the boys can earn pocket money, until we see in the news that shiploads of old scrap iron are going from the United States to Japan. An unclean laugh rises from the trash heap for a rusty bolt, how knowing that he is supplying the armament that will snuff out a life. A few months, years later, perhaps, a Japanese shell explodes in a Russian trench, and that same rusty bolt drives thru the skull of a young soldier, ending a life filled with promise. Old scrap iron is used in the manufacture of munitions of war; the waste of constructive industry can be utilized to kill human beings.

The U. S. Senate has voted for an embargo on the shipment of war materials to nations in conflict; but there is no way to prevent nations contemplating war from buying in advance whatever they may need. There is a constant urge on the part of armament makers to thrust the world for the purchase of more arms and munitions by nations.

And the armorer are combined in a vast trust, with the world control of the business in the hands of half a dozen men. Nations are played against one another as men on a chess board, and the profit from international slaughter goes into the coffers of a mighty business syndicate.

That group of men is interested in the old scrap iron the small boy sells for a few pennies. It will be good for them, but the hand that reaches for it will find its mark; for the world war taught men that it takes many times a man's weight in scrap iron to kill him.

The ships which carry junk to Japan may be carrying death to the youth of the nation who knows but that the lad who has gathered a few pounds of scrap iron may some day stand in a muddy trench and receive death from a hand grenade he himself helped to fill? War is like that.

Schoolmasters Speak Up

Schoolmasters seem to be growing a bit radical. Here is a set of resolutions adopted by the Greater Cleveland Schoolmasters Club, under the inspiration of a Columbia University professor, summing up the present situation as they see it and looking to a planned economy:

1. Life is worth living.
2. To sustain life we need air, water, food and clothing.

3. There are enough of those to give everybody on the continent all he needs.

4. Most of this abundance is controlled by a very small minority.

5. This minority, about 2 per cent, also control our thinking.

6. Most people don't yet know there are enough goods for them to live in comfort.

7. Everybody hopes he will be lucky. The school hopes to be rich.

8. In a system of rapid mechanization, individualism can't and won't work.

9. There must be national control of industry and means of life.

10. Teachers must teach these fundamental economic controls.

11. For this purpose teachers must have a strong, militant organization.

12. There must be a close alliance between teachers and the great mass of people who work with their hands and their brains.

Several of the items will be readily accepted by most of us. Others won't sound so good to many—the last four particularly. Teachers are potentially our most influential class. Critics will object to giving them this kind of power to shape the thinking of the rising generation.

"The 2 per cent minority," says the author of this pronouncement, "won't give us easily even after being shaken up for the bunglers they are. Many would go back to 1929 tomorrow if they could. And then we could have another and I think the last crash."

Such talk from mere schoolmasters to big taxpayers!

Prison Produce

Editorial Opinion of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The ancient controversy over inmates of penitentiaries being permitted to manufacture articles which find their way into the trade channels, flares into heat at the slightest suggestion. Texas probably knows more of that original piece of disagreement than any other state—the reason being that the penitentiary problem has been a plank in nearly every gubernatorial election in the last thirty-four years.

The persons in a state penitentiary should, first, be made self-supporting. They should be worked systematically and constructively. Work is punishment. Work also is rehabilitation.

There can be no logical argument against a state making use of its labor potentialities of prisons and corrective institutions. There are many productive activities which are within the abilities of the inmates and the state should be privileged to apply them to a saving of state taxes.

Manufacturing merchandise for sale in general trade may be left out of the argument. There is no particular need for introducing it. A proper system of prison industry will take care of the state's penitentiary self-supporting is sufficient. But they should not be permitted to stop short of that accomplishment.

HISTORIC STUDY OF HOUSES MADE IN BEARDSTOWN

C. W. A. Employees Make Survey of Buildings in Cass County

Beardstown, March 3.—Two local houses, that of Mrs. Alice Yates and that of the R. B. Glenn family, are subjects of an architectural and historic study by a group of men now in town to represent the Historic American Building Survey authorized as a C. W. A. project under Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior.

The Yates residence, formerly called the Billings house, Third and Lafayette streets, and at least a hundred years old, is the object of careful measurements, inside and out. William O'Connor, squad leader, working from the United States office of National Parks, Buildings and Reservations, remarked on some salient features of the house. Among them are the pillared, double porch, the chimney, the winding staircase with a banister in black walnut, fireplaces and flues, and black walnut doors and other woodwork.

The width, height, and thickness of doors, woodwork, flues, and the distance between stairways occupied workers in measuring for some time.

The Glenn residence is on Third and Washington streets.

Photographs will be taken to record the exact appearance of these buildings and their surroundings. The department contemplates arranging the diagrams and photographs in book form for an authentic record of early American culture and civilization, before it is too late to secure such examples.

As Beardstown is on the Lincoln route, these residences will be further historical spots of interest called to notice by the survey in their work.

Among others already known here is the City Court House, still in use and repair, at the present time. This court house was the scene of the Armstrong trial in which Lincoln acted as the defending lawyer and secured Armstrong's acquittal. It also contains a portrait of Thomas Beard founder of the town.

Another site, near Glenn's Ice Plant, is famous for the mustering and encampment of Lincoln's regiment at the beginning of the Black Hawk war.

Mr. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, sent the following letter with the workers to that citizens may understand the full purpose of the survey and cooperate with the workers. It is:

"The Historic American Building Survey is an important step forward in the conservation of our national historic resources. The type of shelter devised by mankind in every age and climate is an expression of the life of the people. In the United States, the buildings which have survived from the agricultural Indian, the pioneer, the settler, the farmer, the city dweller, each expresses ultimately the culture and model of life of the original tenant or owner."

"The Churches and Missions of the Franciscans and Jesuits of the South and West, the Churches of the Russians in Alaska, the meeting house of the Puritans in the East and Middle West, the colleges, hospitals, mills, warehouses, shops, and other buildings of use in the community all belong to a chapter of the nation's history. Unfortunately, a large part of our American architecture has disappeared. It is inevitable that the majority of structures will, at some time, outline their ultimate usefulness. It is admittedly impractical to preserve all buildings or sites associated with events of incontestable historic importance."

"It is possible, however, to record in a graphic manner and by photography, before it is too late, the exact appearance of these buildings and their surroundings. This is the purpose of the Historic American Building Survey."

"The buildings considered have been selected for measuring and photography in the approximate order of their historic and architectural importance in their districts. The record is made as a form of insurance against loss of data through future destruction, and also as a contribution to the study of historic architecture."

HOUSEHOLD GOODS FOR SALE

"The best laid plans o' mice and men oft gaing agley." Burns never said a truer mouthful, and it is good sometimes, that they do. Otherwise many a deeply and deviously laid plot might never come to light, and never might we have inclination to hang our heads and admit that we had been "stung." Never might we have learned how it was possible for 12 suites of bed room furniture to have been housed in a six-room apartment—and if we had not happened to call in response to the "household goods for sale" advertisement at a wrong time and found a new suite coming up the back stairway to replace the ones that had just been sold "second hand."

The first eye-opener was encountered several weeks ago. Since then curiosity has led us to a number of household goods sales. Some of them have been honest-to-goodness cases of the owners "leaving town." The owners of the furniture in a number of other sales would have been leaving town on shorter notice than they ever believed they would if we could have had our way. Frauds, surely they were. If it isn't fraudulent to represent goods as your own, when actually they never belonged to you for the smallest fraction of a second, then I don't know my dictionary. "We haven't had this suite long at all," may be more than the truth, but it is deception of the deepest dye and, in the words of Billy McDuiff, "something ought to be done."

The practice of putting new furniture into apartments or houses to be sold as "used" seems to be growing. There are many people who, by reason of circumstances, feel that they cannot afford to buy new furniture, and they watch out for the advertisement of someone selling out so as to get what they need at the lowest possible cost. This is all right, and these people should get the best they can where they can—and perhaps they do sometimes at these "household goods" sales. But it will hardly be argued that this is the probability. Square shooting and open and above-boardness are the foundations that modern business builds upon. Deception, such as that resorted to in these "household goods sales," away off place in up-to-date business practices and the sooner the plans for carrying it on "gang agley" the better for all concerned. It was a satisfaction of no small measure to follow back and find that the source of supply in two of the "sales" was not that of any established furniture house. Just by what means the purveyors were managing to get the furniture that was to be sold in this way was not learned, as few, if any, manufacturers "jobbers" would knowingly be parties to any such jack-pot schemes.

Enough Insurance
Fire? Fire

Before the disaster is the time to answer that question to your satisfaction. "Enough Insurance" means an adequate amount to replace the loss of your home, property or business. And remember, the present upswing is increasing stock values. Anything less is your loss! And Fire Insurance costs so little per thousand.

Baptist Revival
Crowds, Interest
Grow Each Night

The revival meetings in progress at First Baptist church are increasing in both attendance and interest. Cottage prayer meetings are being held daily, and services have been held each evening this week. There was no service last night, but Sunday Mrs. R. B. Favorlight will speak at both morning and evening services.

Friday evening Mrs. Favorlight delivered a message from the text, "Come ye out from among them and be ye separate." She pointed out that separation from the world from the Christian standpoint does not mean isolation. However, it does mean that the Christian must maintain a godly life in the midst of a world environment.

She compared the Christian to an athlete at a training table. The food of the Christian is different from that of the worldling. He must feed upon the good word of God, prayer, worship, and the things of the Kingdom.

Services will be held each evening next week. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Times watched the beetle box, and Duncy said, "Look how he rocks that funny-looking mushroom. He can fight like everything."

"Why, say, if he should box with me, I'd be as frightened as could be. One look at him and I am sure that I'd forget to swing."

"His eyes pop out. His chin caves in. I'll bet he couldn't spread a grin. And, just look at the pointed horns that stick out of his head."

"No sir! I'm not a lad to fight with things that fill me full of fright. 'Aw, you are just a coward," little Scouty promptly said.

"If some more fat gloves can be found, I'm game to box the bug a round." "Okay," snapped Nature Nick. "There are some gloves by yonder tree."

"Just put them on and box a bit. Be careful, though, box hard you hit. The beetle might get mad, and he's as strong as he can be."

When Scouty had the gloves on tight, the beetle said, "Why, sure I'll fight. I'll nip me in my training for my caterpillar brawl!"

And so the battle started and the Tynmites all thought it grand. Wee Scouty took some real stiff blows, but didn't mind at all."

Soon Nick said, "I will run and get the caterpillar. Then we're set to see a thrilling battle. Everybody wait right here."

He scampered off and then returned, and all the Tynmites promptly leaped to see the beetle and real reason to be filled with fear.

The caterpillar had eight hands in gloves. Said he, "If each one lands on you, poor Mister Beetle, it will be a sad, sad day."

"The beetle stared and then he sighed. 'I wouldn't have a chance,' he cried. 'You have too many gloves for me!' And then he ran away."

BARNETT FUNERAL RITES TO BE TODAY

The death of Mrs. Charlotte Barnett of 402 East Court street, who was 96 years of age, occurred Friday evening at 6 o'clock at her home. She was one of the city's oldest residents, and had lived here more than 60 years.

Charlotte Elizabeth Blue was born in Paris, Mo., July 16, 1837, being 96 years and 8 months old at the time of death. At an early age she was united in marriage with Fielding Barnett. To this union were born seven children, six of whom with her husband have preceded her in death. One of her sons led the Eighth Regimental band during the Spanish-American war. She has one surviving daughter, Mrs. Laura Lafayette of this city, who has been a faithful companion throughout the many years of her mother's affliction.

Mrs. Barnett came with her family to Jacksonville more than 60 years ago and has been one of the city's esteemed citizens. Many years ago she and her family affiliated with Mt. Emory Baptist church. She worked faithfully as a member of the church for a long period until illness forced her to remain at home. For more than 20 years she had been deprived of her sight. This affliction was borne with patience and many people were the purchasers of quilts and other handiwork done by her.

Mrs. Barnett was well versed in the Bible. She spent many hours reading it, and after she became blind continued to study the Bible through the reading of it to her by others.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Lafayette, she leaves four grandchildren, Sarah Elizabeth Walker, Jacksonville; Eleanor Charlotte Clay and Arthur W. Naylor, Chicago; and Henry J. Barnett of Los Angeles.

The remains were removed to the Gillham Funeral Home and will be left there until shortly before the funeral, which will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mt. Emory Baptist church. Rev. DeWitt and Rev. Johnson officiating. Interment will be made in Jacksonville cemetery.

Do You Know

One of the characteristics of the Electric Utility Business is that its product, electric service, cannot be stored?

Whenever you turn on your lights or snap the switch of any of your appliances, that instant the required electricity is produced by huge generators in the power house.

This demands that the generators, transformers, lines—in fact all equipment—be large enough to supply all the electricity required during the "peak load" (which is the time the most electricity is being used) even though this peak rarely occurs more than one day per year and lasts about 80 minutes. The characteristic also demands reserve equipment as a guard against breakdowns, and makes it necessary to operate the plants continuously.

Dispersing Fog

MANY a man uses mediocre gasoline and worse oil because he isn't convinced there is any better. His mind is befogged by the fact that it all looks very much alike, and that time and loyalty to a good brand are required to demonstrate the difference.

Clearing up the fog and letting in the light through sound merchandising and truth in advertising—there's a mission for you! It's half the pleasure of doing business.

Many car owners think as much of "WITHEE" products as we do. So would you if you could be induced to use them exclusively for a little while.

Oil that not only lubricates, but seals all the rings against lost compression and wet gasoline. Fuel that burns to the last atom with a powerful "follow-through" stroke.

It's just a shame, and an infinitely expensive shame, that every motor car in the land can't have fuel and lubrication as good.

Beardstown School Minstrels Big Hit

Beardstown, March 3.—The Boys' Glee club of the high school presented a minstrel called "Darktown Jubilee Minstrel" under the direction of Walter Hanswald, their sponsor, Thursday night in the high school auditorium. Fifty members took part and amused a full house with songs, jokes and magic.

Cast of characters: Interlocutor—Robert Cannon. Mr. Bones—Rufus Vernon. Mr. Crabb—Bill Langdon. Mr. White—Jack Doyle. Mr. Potts—Robert Stephens. Mr. Tubbs—Howard Peters. Mr. Fish—Ted Krohe. The program: Opening chorus—Entire company. "I Ain't Got Enough for to Pass Around"—Matthew Brady. "The Bullfrog"—Entire company. "Swanee Rhythm"—Franklin Cameron. "Lasses Trombone"—Robert Thomas. "Ready for the River"—Entire company.

"Let's All Sing Like the Birds Sing"—Mr. Potts. "Uncle Ned"—Entire company. Happy Feet "Little Bill Childs"—Harry Bergman. "Darktown Strutters' Ball"—Donald Cox. "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia"—Entire company. "Etiquette Blues"—Robert Frey. "Down South"—Male quartet. "Ham and Eggs"—Entire company. Finale—Entire company.

Music lovers of Beardstown and vicinity will be interested in the organization of a little civic orchestra. Through the highly developed system of musical education in the public schools, many of the young people of Beardstown have invested much of their time and money in becoming efficient players of some instrument. After these students graduate from the high school and no longer play in the high school band or orchestra, they have little use for their talent and their expensive instruments.

There are also many college and university graduates with four additional years of music study who are at home in and around Beardstown who welcome the opportunity of making their musicianship a continuous pleasure to them.

For this reason a well balanced orchestra of thirty instruments has been organized under the direction of Miss Earhart Epling. Miss Epling is a graduate of Missouri University with a degree in music and has had much experience in organizing and conducting mass musical activities. The orchestra meets each week and plans to present an interesting concert in the spring.

The Recreational club met Thursday night in regular weekly meeting held at the Beardstown gym. The men expressed pleasure for the evening spent in basketball, boxing, singing, and baseball.

The boxing bouts were informal and the men all wanted to box put on the gloves and had a workout. About twelve men took advantage of the boxing for a lot of fun and exercise.

The singing was led by Lee Stoker. Walter Deibenhau, Randy Loughery, Otis Smith, and Ed Alloway, and the group joined in.

There were three games of basketball of ten minutes each, and Watts' team was the champ for the evening.

In the baseball games of five innings each, Long's team defeated Hoent's boys, 3 to 2, and Dyer's team defeated Stoker's, 11 to 8.

There was a crowd of seventy-six men who attended, which is an increase of twenty-two members over that of last week's meeting.

Elk in the national parks of this country increased from 96,905 in 1931 to 103,856 in 1932.

Little Civic Orchestra

Music lovers of Beardstown and vicinity will be interested in the organization of a little civic orchestra. Through the highly developed system of musical education in the public schools, many of the young people of Beardstown have invested much of their time and money in becoming efficient players of some instrument. After these students graduate from the high school and no longer play in the high school band or orchestra, they have little use for their talent and their expensive instruments.

There are also many college and university graduates with four additional years of music study who are at home in and around Beardstown who welcome the opportunity of making their musicianship a continuous pleasure to them.

For this reason a well balanced orchestra of thirty instruments has been organized under the direction of Miss Earhart Epling. Miss Epling is a graduate of Missouri University with a degree in music and has had much experience in organizing and conducting mass musical activities. The orchestra meets each week and plans to present an interesting concert in the spring.

The Recreational club met Thursday night in regular weekly meeting held at the Beardstown gym. The men expressed pleasure for the evening spent in basketball, boxing, singing, and baseball.

The boxing bouts were informal and the men all wanted to box put on the gloves and had a workout. About twelve men took advantage of the boxing for a lot of fun and exercise.

The singing was led by Lee Stoker. Walter Deibenhau, Randy Loughery, Otis Smith, and Ed Alloway, and the group joined in.

There were three games of basketball of ten minutes each, and Watts' team was the champ for the evening.

In the baseball games of five innings each, Long's team defeated Hoent's boys, 3 to 2, and Dyer's team defeated Stoker's, 11 to 8.

There was a crowd of seventy-six men who attended, which is an increase of twenty-two members over that of last week's meeting.

Elk in the national parks of this country increased from 96,905 in 1931 to 103,856 in 1932.

Here is what one of our members said about SAVINGS & LOAN when he called for his thousand dollars maturity check:—

"You know, I have never worried a minute about my investment in Savings & Loan, during these unsettled times, because I knew it was secured by many hundreds of properties right here in Jacksonville."

Besides that, the people who borrow your money and mine start at once to pay it back . . . a little principal, plus interest every month. The loan steadily grows less, the margin of security increases. Thus, in spite of decreased values, good saving and loan associations preserve an adequate margin of safety to protect their investors.

The Best Way to SAVE!

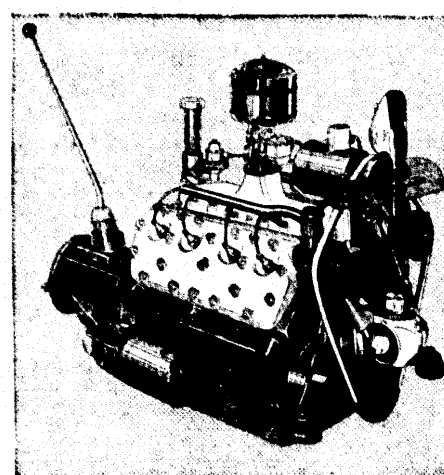

My advice to you . . . whether you want to put away a few dollars every month or have several hundreds to invest . . . is put them in Savings and Loan.

One Dollar starts an account. Come in and let us explain.

PERFORMANCE SHOWS VALUE OF V-8 ENGINE

The most important part of any automobile is the engine. Other features may contribute to your comfort and convenience, but it is the engine that runs the car. Performance, economy, reliability and long life—all these depend on what's under the hood. . . . The New Ford V-8 is an unusually fine car because it has an unusually fine engine. Millions of miles of use have proved the efficiency of its V-8 cylinder design. We invite you to ride in it and let it tell its own story of performance, comfort and all-round motoring satisfaction.

The New Ford V-8 is the only car under $2000 with a V-8 cylinder engine. It combines eight-cylinder speed, power and smoothness with unusual gasoline economy. Dynamometer tests show that the Ford V-8 engine delivers more horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford engine ever built.

ROUTT REACHES SEMI-FINALS OF CATHOLIC MEET

Where are they going to put the crowd?

Thus far there have been no definite plans for the crowd, but there is a possibility that it will be at the stadium and the fans will be in the stands.

Routt's team, which has been in the tournament since the first round, is now in the semi-finals. The team is made up of players from various schools and is coached by Coach E. J. Griffin. The team has been very successful in the tournament, winning all of its games so far.

You'll see a lot of fans here tonight, and you'll see a lot of action. The game is expected to be a close one, and the fans will be in for a treat.

Routt's team is made up of players from various schools, and they are all very talented. They have been very successful in the tournament, and they are expected to win the championship.

Referee Bergstrom and Roellig had a lot of fun getting the Routt and Trinity players tangled at the center jumps. First Bergstrom had to assign players places to stand, and then Roellig had to do it. Bergstrom's plan was to have the Routt player who wanted to stand directly back of the center to stand in his position, and place a Trinity player back of the Routt and Trinity players side by side, two back of each center.

But the tension of the closing minutes was the kind that leaves a house almost raked with silence. Pins dropped all over the building, and the noise they made sounded like the thunder of an April shower (that's hoey but descriptive).

The Rockets didn't have very good eyes for the cage, for if they had, the game wouldn't have been nearly so close. Blessie attempted only two shots, and missed both. Clancy and Graciano missed repeatedly, and Schumm couldn't find the hoop all during the game.

Routt missed nine free throws and made six, compared to three Trinity missed and making nine. Trinity took a few more chances and they had even a worse batting average than the Rockets.

But in this year's tournament, the Rockets completely forgot the fact that it is a Catholic meet, and they played like a team. The reason is that it is a Catholic meet, and they played like a team.

You can get an idea as to the kind of opposition Routt is up against today from the fact that Corpus Christi had won 22 straight games.

Bishop James A. Griffin, head of the Springfield Diocese, who planned to attend the tournament tomorrow night, was among the thrilled spectators last night.

The bishop was unable to keep his foot still, and a few times waved his arms around as the teams battled for the ball and victory. He will present the trophies at tonight's session.

Something new in warming up tactics was shown to the crowd before the final game last night. Coach Bond put his second string in sweat shirts and had his varsity players work against them for a few minutes to get them red-hot before the tussle opened.

His idea worked out fine, but the Cathedral defense was just too much.

We've seen a lot of big players in action, but when it comes to producing really tall boys who play basketball by instinct, these boys from the Catholic high schools have shown us a lot. Everyone of the teams in the semi-finals today have big fellows—and most of them have three or more players who will go up over six feet.

Don't overlook the consolation championship game either. St. Teresa, Decatur, has one of the best built squads in the tournament. St. Mary's of Moline haven't as large a team, but they have a pack of ball hawks who never let up.

It will be a long time before Jacksonville gets another look at teams such as have been brought here for this tournament. However, we have it on good authority that the Spring-

WISCONSIN BEATS IOWA 35 TO 32

Madison, Wis., March 3.—(AP)—Wisconsin put on a whirlwind drive in the second half to come from behind and score a 35 to 32 victory over Iowa in a Big Ten basketball game tonight.

A crowd of 8,800, the largest ever to witness a basketball game at Wisconsin, attended.

The Hawkeyes took an early lead and paced by Moffitt and Barko, who sent the ball swishing through the hoop on fast clean shots, held a 22 to 15 advantage at the end of the half.

Nick Demark, diminutive Badger forward, started the rally in the second half by scoring three field goals in a row. Knake then added a tip in that gave Wisconsin the lead for the first time.

The Badgers counted 13 points to Iowa's lone free throw before Selzer rallied the Hawkeyes who tied the count at 22 all. A field goal by Stege and a free throw by Piser ended the game, the Badgers stalling the last 10 minutes.

Martel's Lean Dogs Best in Quebec Sled Derby

"It takes lean dogs for a long race," and that kind won the international Quebec dogsled derby. Here you see Emile Martel of Quebec and his team of powerful huskies going strong in the last of the three 40-mile stretches of the 1934 classic. Their total elapsed time was 11 hours 17 minutes and 22 seconds—28 minutes better than the second place winner. At the left is a closeup of Emile, trying to catch his breath after the final dash down Quebec's Grand Allee.

NORTHWESTERN BEATS CHICAGO

Chicago, March 3.—(AP)—Northwestern clinched at least a tie for second place in the Western conference basketball standing tonight by defeating Chicago 30 to 22, in a rough and tumble contest in the Maroon Gymnasium.

So close was the guarding that 29 personal fouls were called, and each team lost two players. Late in the first half four personal fouls caught up with Peterson and Oppenheim of Chicago, and early in the second period, Fisher and Manske of Northwestern went out.

Don Brewer, Northwestern forward, dropped in 10 foul goals out of 11 chances, and Bill Haarlow of Chicago connected for six, but missed the same number. The victory gave Northwestern a final standing of eight games won and four lost. Chicago finished in last place with two victories and 10 defeats.

"Y" VOLLEY BALL GAMES RESULT IN TRIPLE TIE HERE

Slight Rules Change Made; Plan Schedule For This Week

The first round of games in the Y. M. C. A. volleyball league resulted in a triple tie for first place in the church league, the teams representing the Christian church, the State Street Presbyterians and the Grace M. E. each having won all but one game. In the city league the Ideal Baking Co. team took first honors with only one loss charged against them. However, as this first round was considered in the nature of a series of practice games, the championships will be determined by the next series. Games are played each Wednesday and Thursday in the Washington gymnasium, with practice games on other nights.

To clear a question which has been raised, a slight change is being made in the written rules for this season. The new ruling is as follows: Forty-five minutes is allowed for each match, and should be used in full, even though the set may be won before the time has elapsed. The win is two games out of three. If there should be a tie in games, and a partially completed game shall decide the winner. If it is still a tie, a five point game, or the score at the end of five minutes, shall decide.

In basketball because of the high school tournament the games regularly played on Thursday will be played on Monday, with the regular schedule on Tuesday.

All of the boys and girls clubs will meet on their regular dates. The Young Men's club will observe "date night" on Monday with a program of entertainment and games in the Congregational church rooms, and on Tuesday the Hi-Y club and the Y.

Girls' club will hold a joint meeting and pot-luck supper, also in the Congregational rooms.

Meet Corpus Christi Today; Quincy And Springfield To Meet In Other Semi-Final

from the side to make the count at half time 11-9.

Tie At End of Third
Kelce and Antonacci got free throws to open the second half, and then Bernbrook pulled off a circus shot to score for Quincy from the field, and then crossed up the Spalding defense by shooting a pass to Terwelp who dropped in a short shot to tie the count as the quarter closed.

Quincy led the fourth quarter, went into the lead, setting the stage for a dramatic finish. Terwelp made one out of two shots off Antonacci's foul, and then pivoted after taking a pass to pitch in a field basket. Waverling found a hot spot at the side of the court and dropped in a bucket to make the count 18-13. Rogers put Spalding back in the running with a rebound shot with only two and a half minutes to go, and with 1:40 to play, Terwelp fouled out of the game.

Antonacci making both shots off his disqualifying foul Spalding went free to the basket and then Kelce fouled out with 1:30 to play, Waverling sinking the throw making the score 19-17. Then, with but 30 seconds left to go, Boehenek picked up a rebound under the cage and edged it through to tie the score.

Wardling into the overtime. Quincy got the ball after about a minute of play, and Waverling was fouled. He missed his shot, but out of the jumble of players came the flying Bernbrook with the ball, and he shot it through the mesh. Quincy got the ball on the next tip off and under the basket, just getting its defense set, Bernbrook flew through it, took a pass and sent the sphere through the iron for the second time.

Cathedral Upsets Marmion
Cathedral's upset victory over Marmion was a great achievement for the team, and the players were in a state of jubilation. The game was a close one, with Cathedral leading for most of the time. The final score was 22-18.

session was anti-climatic to yesterday's thrilling hearing in which the Doctor poured forth a vehement denunciation that she had chloroformed or shot the 23 year old wife of her son Earle. In contrast to the thousands who clamored for admittance to Friday's session, the courtroom today could have accommodated more than 100.

The collapse came as Prosecutor Dougherty questioned her about the clothing worn by Rheta at the time which, according to her repudiated statement, she chloroformed the girl. "I tell you, I don't know. I wasn't there," she answered feebly.

As Dougherty prepared to put another question, the defendant swayed in her chair. She turned to the judge and mumbled something as she caught at her throat, defense attorney W. W. Smith leaped to his feet and called Judge Miller's attention to the woman's condition.

Judge Miller quickly ordered the jury to be removed and that all windows be opened. The room was stuffy and a half a few minutes before had prevented a spectator from opening one.

The last four passed through the door the defendant slid down in her chair. A bailiff hurriedly placed a pillow under her head and for a few minutes she lay with her eyes closed, gasping for breath. The courtroom was in an uproar, and Judge Miller ordered every one to his seat.

Dr. Catherine rushed to her mother's side and took her hand. After aromatic spirits of ammonia had been applied by bailiffs, the defendant was carried to her wheel chair outside the courtroom door.

A Warning from the Chief of Police to the Housewives and Citizens of Jacksonville

This is a warning to beware of Strangers posing as Solicitors or Inspectors—seeking admittance to your homes. They should not be admitted until their credentials have been checked up and verified—and that you are sure they are Local people living here in Jacksonville and entitled to your consideration.

One need not be afraid of offending the honest solicitor, salesman or inspector representing a Local Business Firm—as these men will have their credentials with them—that is why they are required to carry credentials.

Do not pay Cash in advance to Strangers—on an order—in many cases the customer has never received the merchandise—nor has any refund been made of the cash—down-payment.

Do not Cash Checks for Strangers or issue a check as a deposit on an order as often times these have been "altered" and later cashed by a third and innocent party.

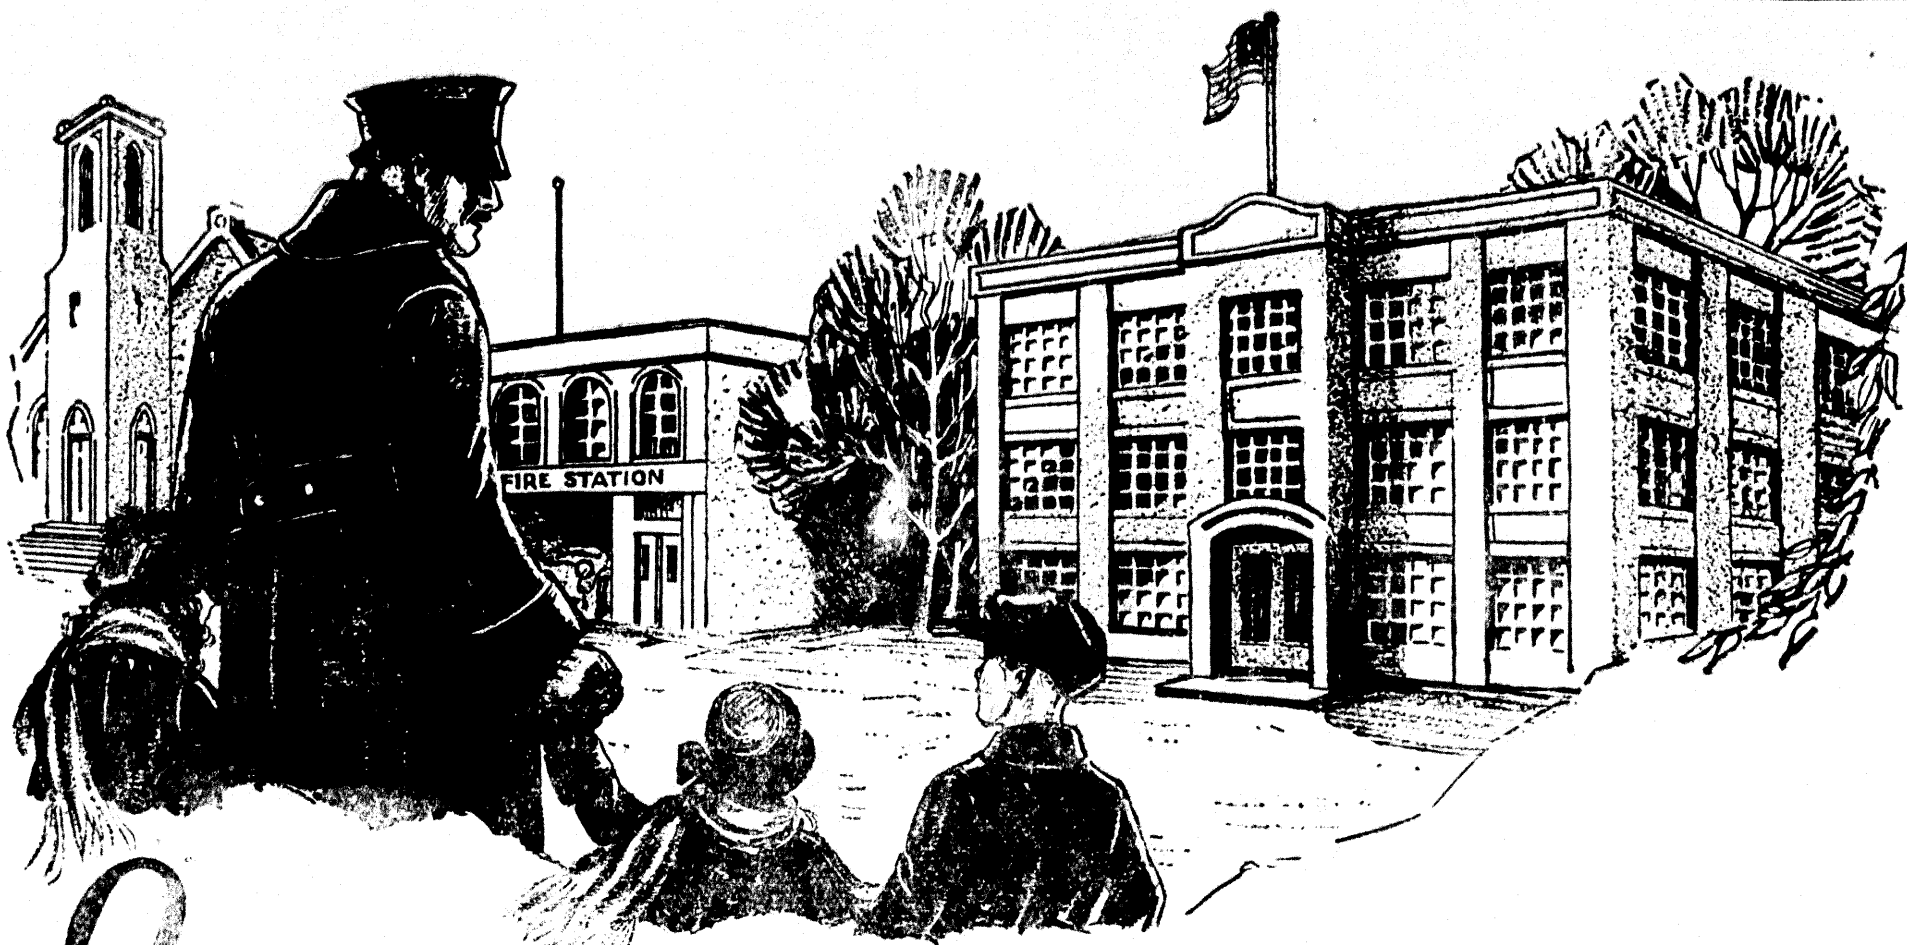

It is better to be Safe than Sorry—be sure you know who the stranger is at your door before allowing him to enter your home.

In case you are suspicious—Phone the Police at once—Phone No. 18—Do this at once—as we are anxious to co-operate with our citizens at all times.

High pressure and Free Gift artists have been working the resident district of Jacksonville recently offering something free as a means of gaining admittance to the homes. In most instances there is nothing to be given away free—do not be lured by this high pressure type salesman.

Protect Yourself—ask for identifications of Every Stranger at your door, as often times strangers without reliable credentials are the "spotters" for professional criminals—and according to police records lack of caution on the part of the householders has often times resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

George Robinson,
Acting Chief of Police.

When the Peddler calls again what will he say?

REST ASSURED that he will be prepared with "Free Samples"—and all the clever phrases and sales arguments which Master Peddlers have been able to assemble—and some of this ammunition will be so effectively Disguised that it will seem reasonable when considered from the peddler's point of view.

YOU ASK THE PEDDLER

Do You or the firm you represent create any employment for my family or my neighbors?

How Much Money Do You or your firm pay toward the upkeep of our public schools—wherein my children obtain their education?

Would I have a place to worship IF I depended upon the subscriptions paid by YOU or Your Firm?

How Much are you as a Door Bell Ringer, or your firm, taxed towards the upkeep of our Police and Fire Departments which offer ample protection for my home?

How Much do you, Mr. Peddler, or your company pay towards the support of our general welfare work?

Remember Your Merchant is maintaining a business institution—hiring Local Help—which is a factor in your city. He is ready to serve you at ALL TIMES and He Pays His Share on all of the above requirements.

You Would NOT Be Guided in money matters—or in politics by this Wandering-Door-Bell-Ringer. WHY be influenced by him in making your decision between the RIGHT and Wrong thing to do in supplying your needs.

Be On Your Guard For This One "I am glad Mrs. Housewife to find you and your city are at last making a stand to keep out the canvasser and peddler. In fact, I dare say (he dares say most anything to get your attention) that my company is somewhat responsible for the movement to eliminate the irresponsible type—As you know I AM BONDED—and my product is Nationally Advertised, etc." He will endeavor to convince you that he is anything but a peddler—calling himself a "special-home-office-representative"—"mill man"—service man, etc.

PLAY SAFE Better Be Sorry You DIDN'T Buy than sorry you did.

Keep THE PEDDLER on the OUTSIDE

A Lesson for the Home People

What do you imagine would become of Jacksonville if every one was to spend his Jacksonville-earned money with the outside merchant—with the catalog house, with the big city stores, with the house-to-house peddler, with the itinerant merchant who brings his "bankrupt stock" of goods in here to sell?

What would happen?
Everything.
And pretty soon there wouldn't be any Jacksonville left for anything to happen in.
But, fortunately, everybody does not spend his money that way—some are loyal, patriotic citizens who know that the prosperity of Jacksonville depends upon the loyalty of its citizens, upon the undivided support of the home institutions. And they practice what they preach.

But some are not so loyal. We send some of our money away from home.

And it never comes back.
Every dollar that is sent out of town means just that much more of a burden for all of us to carry—it deprives the community of just that much of its working capital. It means that there must be greater exertion by the loyal people in maintaining the public institutions, a penalty upon the citizen who is loyal to his home town.

Did you ever look at it in that way?
It is clear enough to those who will see.

Jacksonville, like every other city, has its taxes to pay, has its charities and its churches to maintain, and the other things concerning toward the happiness of the community to keep going—and they must be continued without a break or Jacksonville will fail.

Who is it that contributes to these things?

Cheerfully and willingly. Is it the catalog house—the big city stores, the house-to-house peddler, the itinerant merchant? It is not, and you know it.

It is to the home merchant and to the home people that we must turn for these contributions and they never have failed us. If we depended upon the outsider for means to carry us along with these very important affairs of community good they would be minus, and you know that, too.

Then why work against your own interest?
The home dealers work for you. If all Jacksonville-earned money was spent in Jacksonville, as it should be Jacksonville, with its marvelous resources, would be a wonder town, and it would glow with prosperity, happiness and contentment, with a liberal share for every one of us.

Why not have it that way?
We have the means at hand.

All that is lacking is the WILL. Is there any necessity for any of us to send money away from Jacksonville? There is not. The Jacksonville merchant, every one of them, sells as cheaply as the outside merchant, quantity and quality considered, and in most instances the Jacksonville merchant sells better goods at lower figures than those who invade Jacksonville seeking your trade or those who serve you from other towns. All the Jacksonville merchant is asking is that you give him a chance to compete for your business, and if your loyalty is the kind that stays on straight you will at least give him the chance of showing you what he can do.

That's a fair proposition, isn't it?

Then give it a trial.
In trading with the Jacksonville merchant every advantage is in your favor. You always know exactly what you are buying, because you have it before your eyes, and it is no part of the Jacksonville merchant's business to try to deceive you. He wants you perfectly satisfied, and even after you get your purchase home and find it does not suit, your home merchant will cheerfully make exchange or return your money—and the whole transaction is accomplished while you wait.

Do you get such service from the outside dealer?

You do not.

Their business is to get the money.
There is far too much Jacksonville money being sent and carried away from town—some of it casually, but more of it habitually, and it is bad business for all of us; for you who practice the evil, for the local merchant and the loyal citizen. Jacksonville is worth saving but it will lose thru the continual pecking by those who are taking our money and doing nothing, absolutely nothing, toward the up-keep of the town.

There must be an awakening. Jacksonville is good to its people, and the people should show the same spirit toward the town that pays the wages.

REPRESENTATIVE HUGH GREEN IS FOR SAFETY MOVE

Letter of Endorsement Given For "Lose A Minute, Save A Life" Plan

Endorsement of the "Lose A Minute, Save A Life" campaign being staged by the Jacksonville Journal and Courier was given yesterday by Hugh Green, member of the House of Representatives, 45th Senatorial district of the state. Mr. Green suggested adherence to traffic laws as an aid to decreasing accidents.

His letter to this newspaper follows:

March 2, 1934
Journal Courier Company
Gentlemen:

I am pleased to endorse your "Lose A Minute, Save A Life" campaign in this city as I believe that the lesson which you are trying to teach is very valuable.

I am sure that an adherence to and observance of our Traffic Laws and Ordinances would contribute greatly to the saving of lives and property. In the last analysis, I believe that the Traffic Laws and Ordinances are popular and when enforcement becomes necessary that the enforcing officer is a real protector of life and property.

If there is anything that I can do to aid in your worthwhile campaign I shall be very happy to do so.

Sincerely yours,
HUGH GREEN.

TRIO INJURED IN BUS ACCIDENT AT HOSPITAL HERE

Nine Suffer Injuries When Machine Turns Over At Chandlerville

William Noble, Whiting, Ind. W. B. Walpole, East St. Louis and Alex. Kuraze, address unknown, injured when a Jacksonville bus, enroute from Hammond, Ind., to St. Louis, overturned near Chandlerville early Saturday morning are still confined to Passavant hospital because of their injuries. Their condition, not considered serious, being reported last night as unchanged. Six other passengers in the bus, who received minor injuries were able to leave the hospital after receiving treatment.

The nine persons were injured shortly after six o'clock yesterday morning when the bus in the charge of William Todd of Chicago, left the slab and turned on its side on the north side of Chandlerville.

The heavy fog made it difficult for the driver to see as he rounded the curve. The bus went off the slab and traveled for about fifty feet on the soft shoulder of the road, then turned over on its side, sliding down an embankment.

A. L. Lintner, who lives near the scene of the accident, heard the noise, and went to the assistance of the passengers. He called Dr. J. G. Franken, who gave first aid. The passengers climbed from the bus through the emergency door at the rear.

Nine of the passengers were hurt, but none seriously. The injured were placed in cars and accompanied by Dr. Franken, who gave first aid. The passengers climbed from the bus through the emergency door at the rear.

The injured are: William Noble, Whiting, Ind., fracture of right elbow, bruises; Alex. Kuraze, address unknown, fractured ankle, minor to knee shock.

Others Injured Slightly
The three named above remained in the hospital, as they were the most seriously injured.

Others with minor injuries are: Leffler M. Elsin, St. Louis, sprain to chest, wall; Julius Mack, East St. Louis, abrasions to left leg.

J. C. Garrett, Pine Bluff, Ark., abrasions on right hip; Bertrand Holtz, Chicago, sprain to back; Melvin L. Jones, Whiting, Ind., abrasions on right arm.

Morse Bolshoff, Alton, wound in left thigh, abrasions.

No Women Injured
The six with minor injuries left the hospital as soon as they had received treatment and resumed their travel. Although several women were on the bus, not one woman was hurt.

The bus was traveling south along Route 78. It was one in Chandlerville about 6 o'clock and was running somewhat behind schedule, traveling slowly on account of the heavy fog.

The bus was slightly damaged when it overturned. Several windows were broken.

Two Local Residents Report Desperado Made Visit Here Last Night

John Dillinger, notorious desperado, who gained his freedom from the "escape proof" jail at Crown Point, Ind., yesterday by virtue of a toy pistol whittled from a broomhandle, is believed to have paid his second visit to Jacksonville last night. Two Jacksonville residents reported to the police department that they had had close contact with the bandit and alleged "police killer."

The first report received by officers came from George Towell, 223 East Beecher avenue, who believes Dillinger and his negro companion, Herbert Youngblood, stopped at a sandwich shop on South Main street to eat some chili.

Towell was in the restaurant when the two men entered. He told police that both men appeared nervous, especially the negro. After eating a portion of the chili they had ordered, the white man remarked, "We got 200 miles to go and we better be moving."

Towell said the negro tripped in a low concrete step and he caught him before he fell. "We got 200 miles to go and we better be moving," the white man remarked. "We got 200 miles to go and we better be moving."

At 4:45 p. m. Harlan Doyle, who conducts the Diamond filling station at the corner of South Main street and Morton avenue, called the police station and reported that he believed that Dillinger and his companion had stopped at the station for gasoline.

Doyle had just finished reading the story of Dillinger's escape in the Jacksonville Courier. He had noticed the picture of the notorious bandit on the front page when a car stopped at the pump. Doyle went out to service the car and as he looked into the tank and the driver of the car stepped to the tank and gave him 94 cents in change. Doyle said he was almost positive that the man was Dillinger. Doyle then stepped to the rear of the car to check the license number but found that there were no license numbers on the car.

When the man left the station, Doyle called the police station and Chief of Police George Robinson and Captain Howard Stoen rushed to the station. After looking Doyle's story over, they decided to look to the south, but no report was received of any officers catching a glimpse of the men.

Dillinger is believed to have passed through Jacksonville while enroute to Arizona shortly before his capture. He was seen at a local drug store to obtain some aspirin tablets and later was reported to have been seen at Pittsfield.
